When receiving the package:

Electronic or sealed products can be opened ONLY after payment is made.

i)Please check the items correspond to what you initially ordered and are in working condition. If you find the items to be physically damaged, incomplete or not turning on, please reject them on the spot - our delivery associate will take them back to the warehouse for quality check and you will be refunded within 48hours.

Please note: This step is required in order to protect both your experience and the vendor's, and applies to both pay-on-delivery and prepaid orders.

ii)Please save this document as this serves as a warranty card for products covered by warranty.

In case you require assistance:

i)Products purchased on Jumia can generally be returned within 15 days from delivery - please ensure that your product meets the return requirements by checking our Return Policy and refund timelines on www.jumia.co.ke/return-policy-cp.

ii)If you purchased an electronic product covered by warranty and it stops working properly please submit it to the service center accompanied by this invoice.

Some vendors may not be able to issue ETRs over the short period of time needed to process your order. Please contact our Customer Service before accepting delivery if you need one. It is the seller's responsibility to determine whether or not the price of the items sold is subject to VAT, custom duties, fees, and other taxes. This document is not a sales invoice. It is the seller's responsibility to issue and provide customer with an invoice. It is also the seller's responsibility to pay VAT, custom duties, fees and other taxes as required by local law. Jumia is not responsible for any VAT obligations as this responsibility lies with the vendor. Terms and conditions apply.
